Dear Fellow Military Enthusiast,

A descendant of its M48 Patton predecessor, the M60 main battle tank – also unofficially taking on the “Patton” moniker – served as America’s primary tank beginning in the early ‘60s, after the retirement of the M103. It epitomized U.S. military ground power during the Cold War years and featured numerous upgrades over its three-decade lifespan, including the low-profile “Starship” variant.

Pay tribute to this prolific machine and its 1950s-60s armored brethren with one of the detailed kits featured below. The rest of our catalog showcases the industry’s newest and most exciting military-themed items including the book False Flags: Disguised German Raiders of WWII (page 21), an expanded Vietnam Veteran section (pages 46-47), and Greek Trojan scale figure (page 52).

1851 Humbert ‘50 Gold Ingot Reproduction
In attempt to bring some semblance of order to the chaos of the California gold rush era, Augustus Humbert at the San Francisco Assay Office began producing ‘50 gold ingots in 1851. These coins, known as “Slugs,” are scarce finds among collectors as most were melted down due to their high face value. This reproduction of the octagonal ingot features all of the original’s fine textured details! 41mm diameter.

1880s Carson City Mint Morgan Silver Dollar
Minted from 1878 to 1904 (and again in 1921), the Morgan dollar was authorized by the Bland-Allison Act, which required the U.S. Treasury to buy almost four million dollars’ worth of silver at market value to be coined each month. Struck at the Carson City Mint in Nevada, this authentic 1880s “Wild West” silver dollar can be a part of your collection! 1½” diameter; lightly circulated condition.

Colt Single-Action Revolvers
Peeler. Before Samuel Colt developed the single-action revolver in 1836, pistols were one-shot weapons used only as a last resort. Learn how the introduction of both the .44-caliber Colt Walker and .45-caliber Colt Army changed the face of warfare, relegating the sword to a ceremonial backseat. Enjoy full-color artwork, historical analysis, and first-hand accounts! 80 pages, illustrated, 7¼” x 9¾”, softcover.

M1873 Blank-Firing Revolvers
Entering service in 1873, the Colt single action revolver became the standard pistol for the U.S. Army in the late 1800s. Hollywood Goes to War
During World War II, the U.S. government solicited help from Hollywood's most influential stars to help rally the American people to support the Allied war effort. This incredible 5-DVD set includes some of the most legendary films of the era created by iconic directors like Frank Capra, John Ford, and Walt Disney, and also features behind-the-scenes interviews and never-before-seen footage!

Blue Star Service Banners
A Blue Star Service Banner displayed in the window of a home is an American tradition dating back to 1917, when World War I Army Capt. Robert Queisser—who had two sons serving on the front line—designed the first banner. Also made for window display, these Blue Star Service Banners—with each star representing one family member serving in the U.S. armed forces—measure 8½” x 14” and include a brass staff and a suction cup.

50-Piece 1943-P Lincoln “Steel Cent” Roll Set
In 1943, with copper reserved for the production of wartime supplies ranging from shell casings to radio wire, the U.S. Mint halted copper pennies and issued a special steel Lincoln cents that were produced for one year only. Now you can have your own 50-coin roll of those “Steelies” that are in lightly circulated condition and arrive in a protective coin tube!

WWII Silver Nickel Year Set
With WWII in full swing, many natural resources were reserved for the war effort and, included on that list, was nickel, a key ingredient of the U.S. 5-cent piece. To account for the sudden loss in material, the U.S. Mint resorted to striking the nickel in a new alloy that included 35% silver for coins struck from 1942 to 1945. Now, you can own a piece of WWII history with this set of 4 U.S. silver nickels that arrive in a handsome presentation folder. Circulated condition.

Images of Aviation
Featuring nearly 200 rare vintage photographs, these Images of Aviation guides examine two regions particularly influential in American flight: Massachusetts and Southern California. 128 pages, 180+ B&W photos, 6½” x 9½”, softcover.

1940s Flashback
Sleek and colorful, these 1/32 scale, die cast models are nostalgic flashbacks to the stylish automotive designs of the ‘40s. Each striking convertible features real-working steering, a well-equipped interior, treaded tires, dynamic opening parts (including hood, doors, and trunk), and a removable display base.

The Best of the Andrews Sisters
Patty, LaVerne, and Maxine were the most popular singing trio of the 1930s and ’40s, and were noted for their devotion to entertaining the troops. This 20-song CD features recognizable hits including “Beer Barrel Polka,” “Rum and Coca Cola,” “Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy,” and so much more!

World War II: The Road to Victory
The Songs We Fought For
As a 70th anniversary celebration of Allied victory in World War II, this 2-CD collection features 50 of the most popular songs of the era! Relive classic hits by some of the more legendary artists of all time including Benny Goodman, Frank Sinatra, Count Basie, Vera Lynn, Perry Como, Rudy Vallee, the Ink Spots, Dick Haymes, the Mills Brothers, and more! 2 hrs. 20 min.
Allies vs. The Afrika Korps
In November of 1942, the Allies launched "Operation Torch," the invasion of French North Africa with the purpose of repelling the invading German forces. Examine the entire campaign, and its many historical leaders such as George Patton, Dwight Eisenhower, and Erwin Rommel, with this fascinating six-film program featuring rare vintage footage and celebratory British newsreels. B&W. 1 hr. 47 min.

Disobeying Hitler

German Resistance After Valkyrie

Hansen. While the failed assassination attempt on the Führer’s life in the summer of 1944 is often viewed as the end of German resistance to Hitler, this new-perspective volume argues otherwise. Learn how, despite regime change no longer being an active goal of the “resistance” after Valkyrie, many of the Nazi faithful began purposely disobeying orders – and saving thousands of lives in the process. 480 pages, B&W photos, 6½”x 9¼", hardcover.................$12.95

Hunting Hitler

New Scientific Evidence that Hitler Escaped Nazi Germany

Corso. What if Adolf Hitler escaped the Allies’ grasp after the Second World War? Analyzing recent research suggesting Hitler survived the war, this volume sheds new light on one of the most tantalizing questions of recent history. You’ll weigh the evidence to decide if he ended up in Argentina with his fellow Nazi officers; made his way to Indonesia, where he worked at a hospital and remarried; really did die in the bunker; or if the mystery remains unsolved. 192 pages, 20 B&W photos, 5½”x 9", hardcover. ...............................

The Projects of Skunk Works
Pace. The U.S. government, in the face of growing Nazi threats in the summer of 1943, requested the development of a research team capable of designing a jet-powered fighter – and Skunk Works was born. Pull back the curtain of the secretive Lockheed program with this guide filled with images of everything from the drawing board to the sky in addition to the entire story of the X-1, the plane that finally achieved supersonic flight when, in 1947, it was piloted by Chuck Yeager and reached speeds of 700mph.

U-2C Spy Plane Kit
The U-2 "Dragon Lady," introduced in 1957, is a high-altitude recon aircraft that helped America gain vital intelligence on the Soviets during the height of the Cold War. Three Came Home
Based on the 1947 bestselling memoir of the same name, this 1950 drama tells the true story of American-born author Agnes Newton Keith (Claudette Colbert), her British husband (Patric Knowles), and their young son, who are interned after the Japanese invasion of British North Borneo in 1942. Held with her son in a POW camp for women and children, Colbert endures starvation and torture – but receives kindness from an unlikely source. B&W, 1 hr. 46 min. #7173

They Raid by Night
In this 1942 thriller, a British special agent (Lyle Talbot) leads a three-man team into Nazi-occupied Norway to rescue an imprisoned general. The men parachute behind enemy lines and disguise themselves as Nazi officers to free the general, but double-dealing by the resistance fighter’s ex-fiancé leaves the men fighting for their lives. B&W, 1 hr. 10 min. #MV51163

The Bushwhackers
Set in the early years following the Civil War, this 1952 picture follows the exploits of Jefferson Waring, a war vet who hopes to leave his soldier days behind him and settle down in Missouri. Instead, he finds himself embroiled in a battle over land – the stakes of which are raised due to the arrival of the railroad – and a diabolical plot set in motion by a ruthless schemer named Artemus Taylor. B&W. 1 hr. 7 min. #102543

American Warships
Carl Weathers and Mario Van Peebles star in this otherworldly action drama in which the USS Iowa remains the only thing standing between us and an alien invasion. After the USS Enterprise is destroyed and coastal cities are ruthlessly bombarded, General McKraken (Weathers) must buy time for the Iowa – whose outdated design makes it immune to the aliens’ advanced technology – by executing cunning diplomatic deals. 1 hr. 30 min. #MV51971

In Pursuit of Honor
This film stars Don Johnson as a member of a U.S. Cavalry detachment that refuses to kill its horses after being ordered to do so during the transition to a mechanized army in the mid-1930s. Risking their honor and their lives to save hundreds of horses, the cavalrymen drive the herd north to evade the slaughter, but the group is followed by a light armored unit. Can the men and their horses reach safe haven in Canada? Rated PG-13. 1 hr. 49 min. #MV51524

Charlie Wilson’s War
Starring Tom Hanks, Julia Roberts and Philip Seymour Hoffman, this film is based on the outrageous true story of how one congressman who loved a good time, one socialite who loved a good cause, and one renegade CIA agent who loved a good fight conspired to bring about the largest covert operation in history. Bonus features include a “making of” featurette and a profile of the real Charlie Wilson. Widescreen, Rated R. 1 hr. 42 min. #MV51971

Benghazi Desert War
An exciting double feature, this DVD includes two films produced during the Second World War on North African combat. The Fighting Rats of Tobruk captures Australian soldiers relentlessly fighting against Rommel’s armored forces. Both staged reenactments and actual battlefield footage are featured in Desert Victory, a documentary with never-before-seen footage of the Battle of El Alamein. This program also includes rare vintage newsreels! B&W. 2 hr. 24 min. #101668

Phantom
Beneath the ocean surface, two men wage battle for control of a Soviet submarine armed with nuclear missiles while the world looks on with bated breath. On board, a veteran captain (Ed Harris) tries to keep control of his vessel, while a rogue KGB agent (David Duchovny) schemes to overtake the ship and begin a nuclear war. With the crew taking sides, will the seasoned commander be able to control his ship? Widescreen, Rated R. 1 hr. 39 min. #MV51711

Shining Through
In this suspenseful WWII drama, a New York secretary (Melanie Griffith) falls in love with her new boss (Michael Douglas), who is really an O.S.S. officer. Recruited to join him in Germany, she serves as a domestic for a top-ranking Nazi official in order to gain information about a secret flying bomb. Rated R. 2 hrs. 12 min. #MV51486

Down Periscope
This screwball comedy stars Kelsey Grammer as Lt. Commander Dodge, a veteran skipper and brilliant tactician who’s always wanted to command a nuclear submarine. When Dodge is given command of a decrepit World War II-era sub crewed by misfits, he throws 200 years of naval tradition overboard. Includes full and widescreen versions, Rated PG-13. 1 hr. 32 min. #MV51438
